Overview

This private day trip is a 10-hour excursion from Tokyo that combines cultural history and coastal scenery in one easy-to-manage itinerary. Designed for travellers who want to get out of the city for a full day, the tour takes you to historic Kamakura and the coastal island of Enoshima, both popular destinations near Tokyo.

Travel is by private, air-conditioned vehicle with an English-speaking driver, and the schedule is flexible so you can explore key spots at your own pace.

What You'll See

Kamakura

Your first destination is Kamakura, known as the political centre of medieval Japan and full of cultural landmarks:

- Visit Hase-dera Temple, a scenic hilltop temple with views over the sea.
- See the Great Buddha (Kotoku-in), a famous large bronze statue from the 13th century.
- Wander through Komachi-dori, a lively shopping street with local snacks, souvenirs and traditional crafts.

Enoshima

After exploring Kamakura, the tour continues to Enoshima, a small coastal island connected by a bridge. Highlights on Enoshima include:

- Views from the Sea Candle lighthouse (observation tower) and surrounding gardens.
- Walking along cliffside paths and beaches with potential views of Mt. Fuji on clear days.
- Exploring sea caves and the relaxed seaside promenade.

The mix of temple history, shopping streets and sea views makes for a varied and memorable day out.

Inclusions and Logistics

- Private transportation in an air-conditioned vehicle for your group.

- English-speaking driver to guide you and to tailor the schedule to your interests.
- Pickup and drop-off in Tokyo arranged in advance.

Tour pricing commonly begins from about ¥90,000 per group depending on season and group size.

What's Typically Not Included

While transportation and driver services are part of the package, entrance fees to temples and attractions, lunch, and taxes may not be included in the base price; confirm specifics when booking.

Tour Experience

The tour is ideal for travellers who want a comprehensive day escape from Tokyo without coordinating complex public transport or multiple connections. With private vehicle transport and flexible timing, you can explore each site without feeling rushed and enjoy both cultural and natural highlights in a single day.
